

Scottish Science Advisory Council Networking Lunch

Date: Thursday 10th September 2009 12.45pm – 2pm

Venue: Browne House, Crichton University Campus, Dumfries

Background:

The Scottish Science Advisory Council provides independent advice and recommendations on science strategy, policy and priorities to the Scottish Government's Chief Scientific Adviser for Scotland Prof Anne Glover.

The Council including both practitioners and users of scientific innovation will be meeting in the Crichton University Campus, Dumfries on 10th September.

A full list of the Council members can be found here:

<http://www.scottishscience.org.uk/members.html>

You are invited to come along and meet with council members and local representatives from Higher and Further education institutions who will be showcasing their knowledge and expertise over a networking lunch.

This is a great opportunity for you to give your views on science and innovation to the group and to learn what is happening locally.

Registration: 12.45pm

Lunch and Networking: 1.00-2.00pm

Register:

To register please email Pamela Young at pyoung@targetinginnovation.com by 4th September 2009.

Knowledge Links for Business is a Scottish Enterprise project and is part funded by the European Union through the European Regional Development Fund. The project is being delivered on behalf of Scottish Enterprise by Targeting Innovation Ltd with support from Interface – The knowledge connection for business.

